Children's Online Privacy Protection Act (COPPA) Privacy Policy, Notice, and Verification of Parental Consent

BJU Press takes great pride in providing exceptional service for our valued customers. In keeping with this commitment, we are dedicated to protecting your privacy and handling any personal information we obtain from you with care and respect as described in our Children's Privacy Policy. This Children's Privacy Policy is designed to answer your questions regarding our privacy policies and principles with respect to children under the age of 13.

Although BJU Press, as a non-profit entity, is not subject to the requirements of the Children's Online Privacy Protection Act (COPPA), we seek to abide by its provisions as a matter of policy. It would require that we inform parents and legal guardians about how we collect, use, and disclose personal information from children under 13 years of age and that we obtain the consent of parents and guardians in order for children under 13 years of age to enroll in The Academy of Home Education. Below we explain how we do that for these children. Also, the use of the term parent, below, includes legal guardians.

What types of personal information do we collect about children?

BJU Press does not knowingly collect information from children at BJUPressHomeschool.com. BJUPressHomeschool.com is designed to allow adults to purchase BJU Press products and materials. However, if a parent registers his or her child for The Academy of Home Education, BJU Press will collect information from the parent about the child in order to provide record-keeping services and access to The Academy of Home Education platform. BJU Press will collect the following information from the parent about the child: first and last name, birth date, gender, and grade level. We collect birth dates to validate the age of each child. Information regarding the child's education is collected from the parent, including previous test scores, previous report cards, and transcripts, when applicable.

How do we use and share the personally identifiable information that we have collected about children?

BJU Press will use the child's demographic information and prior educational information to register the child in The Academy of Home Education recording-keeping software. Registering a student requires the parent to confirm his or her first and last name and complete demographic information.

The child's information will be used to keep track of course progress and grades earned.

A child's personal information will be used only by The Academy of Home Education staff as necessary to provide services related to the child's enrollment. In addition, we may share a child's personal information with third parties to the extent reasonably necessary to protect the security and integrity of our sites; to take precautions against liability; to respond to judicial process; or to the extent permitted under provisions of law to provide information to law enforcement agencies or for an investigation related to public safety.

How do we notify and obtain consent from parents for the collection of information from their children?

BJU Press requires that parents, prior to enrolling their children, review and agree to our terms and conditions, including our Children's Privacy Policy. By registering a child for The Academy of Home Education and submitting credit-card payment for services, parents indicate agreement with the BJU Press Children's Privacy Policy and authorize BJU Press to collect and use the child's information as described in this policy. Parents who submit payment using check or cash will need to sign and return a statement indicating their agreement with this policy.

How can parents review, or change personally identifiable information about their children?

Parents may review or change their child's personally identifiable information at any time by logging in to the parent's account in The Academy of Home Education software. Parents may contact The Academy of Home Education staff at 800.845.5731 at any time if they require additional assistance with their account. You may also email us at ahe@bjupress.com.

How will we notify parents if our Children's Privacy Policy changes?

Our Children's Privacy Policy may be amended at any time but will always be made in conformance with applicable law, including applicable provisions of COPPA. For any material changes to our Children's Privacy Policy, we will email parents who have enrolled their children in The Academy of Home Education.

How can parents contact BJU Press with questions about our Children's Privacy Policy?

If you need further assistance, you may email your questions or comments to us at ahe@bjupress.com. You may also call us at 800.845.5731 or write to us at
